

SCORING AND GAMES COLLECTION

X before Y

One team has to get "X" number of points before the other team gets "Y." This is most common with Four before Two and Seven before Three. You can set this ratio to fit your team, and let the starters have a real challenge to beat the bench players.

X out of Y

The team who gets the most points, X, given the number of balls Y introduced by the coach

X in a row

The winner has the highest number of points in a row. When the team getting the points in a row errs (including the opponents success in any way) the counter is reset back to 1 (as the one team just got that point) and the other team works to get the highest number of rallies won in a row.

X in Y minutes

Playing games by time and not score is one option. Playing to see who can accumulate the largest number of points in each unit of time, with an overall aggregate total at the end is another option.

Criterion

In any game, certain point numbers are designated as criterion points. The first team to reach that point gets bonus points. You can also "bet" additional points at these criterion points.

Team spelling

Rotationally, team spells a word out loud before tossed ball hit the floor.

Bucket of balls

There is a stated time limit and a set number of balls in the cart. When a ball goes dead, it is gone. The players have only the balls in the cart to keep going for the set block of time.

Handicapping and Reinforcing

This concept is at the discretion of the coach. Commonly the starters might have to perform something three times, while the second group has only to get two successes. In any game, you can give 2 points for the team behind and 1 point for the team leading.

Start in the Frying Pan

Start at 12-12, 23-22, 20-20 or 14-13, etc. - not at 0-0

Bongo

A team must win "X" number of rallies to get a chance to serve for a point on the scoreboard (A Neville/Beal National Team creation)

Twofer Serves

Each player serves two in a row, no more or less, taking momentum out of the game - and at the lower levels, eliminating the 15 serves in a row by one server situations.

ScoreFlip

At any time, for learning, competitive and intensity reasons, the coach can reverse the scores. No complaining, each team must then deal with the score as it then stands, using whatever point scoring variation being used. Thus the starters might go from a 14-10 lead to suddenly being down 10-14.

Final Point Mountain

You have to score "X" number of consecutive little points to score that final point.

Spell Supercalifragilisticexpialdocous or IT

This is used in the cooperative and transitional scoring phases, where long or short words must be spelled out, getting one letter for each three hit net crossing by the at the moment cooperating teams. Once the word is spelled, the teams can go into competitive mode for that rally and can then score an actual point, or can continue to cooperate to see what the highest number they can reach together.

Negative Points

A point does not count if a player performs an undesired action. For example, if Sue hits a spike with a closed fist (and you as coach want an open hand with wrist snap), the rally does not count. Points can also be taken away for pre-discussed attitudes, or lack of hustle.

Wave Wash

Winners go under net, losing side back row moves off court.

Weighted Scoring

0 for free ball, +1 for a down ball, +2 for an attacked ball, - 2 if not put over net, -1 if not put into opponents court.

First Ball Killed

The point can only be scored on the first rally, by the team getting the ball while the team defending will get a point for winning the rally at any time. The wash comes when the team getting the ball puts the ball away but not in the first rally.

Eternal Rally

Simply keep throwing in balls, monitoring the players fatigue factor, to see how few balls, how many balls, or how long the team can play in a constant rally.

Scramble

You give each side "X" minutes to successfully score points in free/down ball situations. Unforced errors can be negative points, while no effort by either side can take the teams back a rotation.

Peer Pressure Goal

Play for one continual minute, with everyone going for the ball hard, and/or everyone staying low , or whatever a main goal is. Should someone not do the demand, 1. Stop drill,
2. Announce name,
3. Restart drill at zero again.

Time Ball in Air

A set amount of time that no ball can hit the floor, as the whole team must keep their balls off the floor. If coach sees or hears a ball hit the floor, team restarts the clock.

Hat Scoring

Put all sorts of scores in a hat, 22-24, 12-14, 12-12, 14-12, 21-21, 10-20,20-10 etc. A player draws out the score and the training session starts with that score.

M&M Chair

Remember vertical targets are NOT right for serving, but they ARE good for Passers. So leave an empty chair with a tube of mini-M&Ms on it. First passer to hit the chair gets to sit there and slowly eat M&Ms until another passer hits him/her and takes his/her place.

Wash Games

Created first by USA National team coaches Doug Beal and Bill Neville, are just one way to enhance how the game teaches the game. This is done by having the coach add one or more balls into the game immediately, while players need to learn how to clear the ball off the court fast and safely to be able to focus on the next ball. An important fact of these kinds of fast added ball drills is that research shows players get up to 50% more touches on the ball in the same amount of time as in a standard scrimmage. Equally importantly, the players learn a key game like thing, of competing, with winners and losers in some manner or form. The higher intensity also teaches each player how to handle a pressure level that is higher than most matches.

Wash scoring

Is named from the concept - "I paid for lunch and you picked up dinner so it's a wash." Thus, in order to get a point on the scoreboard, a team must win two or more rallies. If one team wins the served ball rally, and the other team wins the coach-introduced-ball rally, it is a wash. Rally scoring is used, not side-out scoring. Keeping track of the scoring in this higher intensity situation can be its own challenge. I use my fingers, raising one or more on the side of the team that has won the little points, before a big point is reached. Other coaches use the balls being carried to be added in, while others use a team manager or player out of the game to keep score. The art of coaching includes letting them argue about the scoring, to see who has the best recall of the team, though the objective is to touch more balls in the same amount of time, not practice arguing. This art also includes determining which team gets the coach-introduced balls, as they can be given to the rally losing side, or the rally winning side, and can be given easily or aggressively attacked by the person putting the additional ball(s) into the court.

See Ya! Tournament

This is an instant winner/single point game run on as many courts as you have available. When you lose you move on to the next court then at the last court, return to the first court and start all over again. Scored by whoever has the highest number of one point game wins total.

Monarch of the Court

Otherwise known as Queen of the Court and King of the Court in single sex competitive situations. You can designate one side that the winning side defends, so that the challenger runs under the net to that side when they win the one point rally. You can also say that the winning side must change sides each time to add more conditioning to the game.

Match-ups

Hitter vs. Blocker, Server vs. Passer, Digger vs. Hitter, Setter vs. Blockers

Two vs. Four

The doubles team can hit from anywhere on the court, the four person team can block with one blocker only and must attack from behind the three meter line.

One vs. one vs. one

Over the net short court

Five vs. Five

Play without a player in position #5 or #6, or in #1, 2 or 3.

Six vs. Three or Six vs. Two

You start three vs. three or two vs. two, the side that puts the ball over after their first three hit rally then goes to four or six players then on the court. Should the other side get the ball back over also with three hits, goes to four vs. four or six vs. six. The side that wins get to split up and stay on both sides, the losing side splits to become the add-ins when the ball crosses the net.

Prisoner Volleyball

Each rally point scored, the winning side gets one of the other side's players, the player who made the error or who was closest to the ball as it was killed.

Tip/Hit Scrimmage

You can spike only if a one person block forms, if two or more blockers form, you must one handed or two handed tip to beyond the three meter line.

Softball

This has as many innings as there are players on one side of the court.

- Each half of an inning is over when pitching team (serving) gets three outs.
- An out is achieved when the batting team (team receiving) either errs or the pitching team stuff blocks/ace serves/transition kills.
- An untouched ace serve is a double play.
- A stuff block is a double play
- Home Run - batting team kills ball on first attempt
- Triple - batting team gets point before or at the second net crossing of the ball
- Double - batting team gets point before or at the third net crossing of the ball
- Single - batting team gets point before or at the fourth net crossing of the ball
- Any longer rally is a foul ball
- Serves into net are a ground rule double for the batting team
- Serves out over net are a walk for the batting team

You can give any kind of hit or out for actions desired, letting the team define things as the game develops. (eg, a triple play if no one even moves for a ball, or a stolen base because of the extra hustle or team play by a the batting team.)

Football

Creating football levels of wash scoring, you get to keep getting the ball, and after 2 successes in a row, you can opt for a "field goal" getting three points. If the opponents block your attempt however, they "run it back for a touchdown." You can wait and go for 6 in a row, thus a touchdown, and then go for an extra point, or go for two by killing the ball from the back row. Play for 5 or 10 min per "quarter" and switch sides at each quarter, giving them a 2 min break for "halftime."

You Da Star

One vs. Six, if the single player can touch it, stays on.

Got the Whole World

Five servers vs. one passer on both sides of the net at same time. If you can touch the serve, stay on.

Golf (shoot for hula hoops)

Keeping track of the number of serves to hit into the hoop/target. Lower skilled players get holed out if they hit any part of the target. Higher skilled must hit completely in the target boundaries.

Hit or be Hit

Everyone hits the same hit, back row or high outside most often. If ball is hit out or even touches the net, that player must lay down on other side past the 3 meter line. All players hit until just one is left who then gets to hit 5 in a row from wherever desired.

Sweets

Kudo candy bars, tootsie rolls, popsicles as pattern interrupter awards. It is amazing how hard a player will train for a mini-tootsie roll.

Play Sitting volleyball, Special Olympic volleyball, Sepaw Takraw, Doubles, Triples.... just PLAY Volleyball, for that is really the only "drill" that matters.
